

STANFORD MAGAZINE

Winter, 2014

Martin Davidson, PhD '88 (psychology), was promoted to full professor at the U. of Virginia, where he was also appointed to sit on the finance committee of the Board of Visitors. In addition he was recognized by The PhD Project with its Trailblazer Award. The Project was created in 1994 to diversify corporate America by increasing the number of minority business professors who attract more minority students to study business in college.